3. Regular Monitoring and Plan Revision – ESEA Sec. 1114(b)(3)

The Schoolwide Program strategies are regularly monitored, and revised as necessary, based on evolving student needs.

American Prep uses two data tracking systems, one for homeroom classes and one for Multi-Tier Systems of Support classes. Within these systems, we use a myriad of tools to ensure an outstanding education product and accountability in those teaching it. These tools include the 180-day Plan, Grade Level Homeroom Tracker, Daily Lesson Data Record, Check-out Records, Test Arrays, Lesson Progress Charts, Group Level Overview Forms, End of Year Group Evaluation Forms, and Master Academics.

Homeroom 180-Day Plan and Grade Level Homeroom Tracker

Teachers find their curriculum on the 180-Day plan, which links them to a Google Drive full of teaching materials. They report on the Grade Level Homeroom Tracker which lessons have been taught and which students did not achieve mastery on Accountability Elements (AE). Monthly, district grade level teams meet to review this data. At the end of the school year, district teams review and compile and present this data to administrators during a 5-day Post Service.

Multi-Tier System of Support Class Tools

1. Daily Lesson Data Record

The Daily Lesson Data Record (DLDR) is used during reading to track how many turns to read each child has, reading errors they have made, comprehension questions answered correctly and incorrectly, how the student did on their daily speed reading tests and daily homework scores.

2. Check-out Records

In reading every 5-10 lessons, teachers fill out a check-out record, marking if the student made it in the targeted time and how many errors were made.

3. Test Arrays

In Math, along with recording daily math facts, homework and effort scores, the teachers fill out a test array every 5-10 lessons. The array shows how many points each student missed on individual test questions and the corresponding skill related to that question. It has built in formulas to show teachers suggested skills for re-teaching.

4. Lesson Progress Charts

The data from the daily reading and math records is analyzed to fill out the weekly Lesson Progress Chart (LPC). On this document, teachers write what lessons were taught and mark how many of their students were at mastery, 80% or higher, for the week. In addition, they mark which adaptations their students with special needs received that week. On the back of the LPC, teachers create a plan for each student not at mastery to help them achieve mastery the following week. LPCs are delivered to the academic directors who compile them into a campus wide LPC. Directors track the lesson pacing of the teachers in their MTSS courses, and a cumulative look at students who are not at mastery and why. This is sorted by students who have not been at mastery for one week, two weeks and three weeks and sent to the teaching staff, who then meet weekly to collaboratively create plans to help students achieve mastery.

5. Group Level Overview Forms

When there is a large group of students in the same level or class that are not at mastery, teachers may be asked to fill out a group overview form. This provides scores on the last two exams, evaluations of handwriting ability, independent work speed, behavior structure and academic structure for each student. Copies of checkout records and test arrays are attached to this document. The academic directors then process this data to decide if a large group restructuring is necessary.

6. End of Year Group Evaluation Forms

At the end of each school year, students are given a battery of end-of-year placement exams as well as writing prompts. Teachers and paras use this information, along with data collected year-round, to complete the Year End Group Evaluation Form. On this form they list the scores from the last four exams, students' yearly grades, placement on final exams, and Acadience scores. They also score the students' Handwriting Ability, Independent Work Speed, Writing skill, Comprehension ability, Academic Structure, and Behavior Structure. Using this data, they recommend an MTSS placement for the next school year. Teachers and paraprofessionals attach the DLDR's, check-out records and arrays to this form and hand deliver it to the academic directors, who analyze this data before making MTSS class selections for the following year.

7. Master Academics.

Academic Directors update their Master Academics (MA) weekly and send them to teaching staff. The MAs contain a cumulative history of all previous reading, math and spelling MTSS courses the students have taken, a record of all Acadience test scores the students have taken while at APA, as well as RISE, SAT, WIDA, and Core Knowledge test scores.

Admin Post Service and SIP Development

Following the teacher Post Service is a 5-day Admin Post Service. Program, Department, and Grade-level presentations, along with accountability elements, end of year high stakes tests, parent surveys, behavior reports, Acadience results, AP test scores, staff retention reports, parent surveys, WIDA, and other data reports are reviewed in a Comprehensive Needs Assessment.

Administrators also consider district goals, input received from staff surveys and School Community Councils, Parent Advisory Committees, and fiscal and human resources as they develop improvement goals, strategies and activities for the upcoming school year. The result is a comprehensive School Improvement Plan (SIP). The SIP is presented to American Preparatory Academy’s Governing Board for final approval.

SIP Review

District academic leadership meets at least three times per year with school leadership to review and discuss progress on each action item within the school’s improvement plans. Adjustments are made and new assignments given according to the information and data provided during those reviews. At the end of the school year, goals are either marked accomplished or re-evaluated and rolled over into the new school year, adding new goals as needed.

6. Recruitment and Retention of Highly Effective Teachers

ESEA 1114(b)(1)(E)

Refer to item #10 of the Utah Title I Part A Monitoring Handbook

Strategies are implemented to attract, recruit, and retain highly qualified teachers in high need schools.

Describe strategies, policies and incentives to recruit and retain teachers.

- American Preparatory Academy actively recruits teachers through job fairs, public announcements, interviews, competitive salaries, benefits, and bonuses.
- Candidates are screened using Highly Effective standards.
- If a candidate is selected for a teaching position who is not yet highly effective, that candidate will meet with administration to design an individualized plan for highly effective Professional Progress.
- Administration supports teachers with instructors, SPED assistance, training, an organized curriculum plan, weekly meetings, etc.
- When budget allows, merit awards are given to highly effective teachers who return the following year.

Describe the processes used to involve parents in the development of the schoolwide planning process. Attach copies of communications that were mailed or sent home, agenda with roll signatures, meeting notices, meeting minutes, etc.

American Preparatory administrators annually invite select staff and parents from each school to participate in a School Planning Meeting. This Committee reviews the Comprehensive Needs Assessment and analyzes areas for potential improvement. School Plans are developed with goals, action steps, and budget relationships. This meeting took place on August 14, 2024. The agenda is to the left. The sign-in sheet is on Page 1.

TSSA Plans, Early Learning Plans, Parent and Family Engagement Policies, and Parent/Student/School Compacts are reviewed by the School Community Council in a previous meeting. Input is collected and considered as the SIP is developed.

Describe how schoolwide plans will be made available to parents and the public in an understandable and uniform format.

The Schoolwide plan will be made available to parents on the school website and information will be published in a Fall newsletter.

Identify the parent involvement strategies that the school will use to involve parents.

8. Transition from early childhood programs to local elementary school programs (Elementary schools only)

ESEA 1114 (b)(1)(G)

Refer to item #11 of the Utah Title I Part A Monitoring Handbook

In schoolwide program schools, there is clear evidence of transition activities between early childhood programs/home and the local elementary school.

Description of communication	Unlike neighborhood public schools, WV1's kindergarten population is not based on geographical boundaries. Incoming students come almost exclusively from families with current students in the elementary or secondary grades. Communications about registration, immunizations, assessments, etc. begin in the Spring of the prior year through our weekly newsletters and through direct administrator/teacher contact with parents who have indicated they would like to enroll their student at WV1.
Description of collaboration efforts	Incoming American Prep kindergarten students' parents are given a "KinderPrep" summer packet when they attend their assessment. This packet includes beginning skills to work on as well as a link to video resources.

Description of transition activities	Incoming kindergarten students are assessed during the last week of school at the WV1 campus for verbal acuity, literacy, and numeracy proficiency before entering kindergarten. Assessments are administered by a highly qualified kindergarten staff member in a scheduled, one-to-one environment. Any students whom we are unable to assess before the last week of school are assessed during the summer or during the first week of school. Students are identified as academically at risk based on the results of the above assessments in English, reading, and math proficiency.

9. Decisions regarding the use of assessments

ESEA 1114 (b)(1)(H)

Refer to item #12 of the Utah Title I Part A Monitoring Handbook

In schoolwide program schools, teachers are included in decisions regarding the use of assessments.

What assessments will be used to measure student progress and inform instruction?	The state standardized assessment is administered. Acadience, SAT, Core Knowledge, College Readiness, and in-program Assessments will be used to measure academic success. It is anticipated that test scores will demonstrate increased proficiency that align with our school goals. For more information, visit: https://www.americanprep.org/state-assessments/
Please describe how teachers were included in decisions regarding the use of assessments.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Teachers in weekly team meetings give feedback on assessments...which assessments should be used, when they should be taken, etc. • Reading and math programs are assessed every 5 days. There are bi-monthly assessments every 2 weeks.

10. Students who experience difficulty mastering academic achievement standards

ESEA 1114 (b)(1)(I)

Refer to item #13 of the Utah Title I Part A Monitoring Handbook

In schoolwide program schools, procedures are in place to ensure that students who experience difficulty mastering any of the proficient or advanced levels of academic standards are provided timely and additional assistance.

How will the school identify which students experience difficulty in mastering academic standards?	When a student is enrolled at WV1, a series of assessments are given to the student to place them in an instructional level that matches the student's understanding of that subject. If the student passes it with 80% accuracy or better, then a higher leveled test is given. Tests will continue to be given until the student does not pass. When the student does not pass, then we know what level of instruction is appropriate. When they do not pass the initial test with 80% accuracy or better, then a test that is lower in difficulty is given until the student does pass a test with 80% accuracy or better. This process occurs for reading and for mathematics.
What interventions will the school provide for students experiencing difficulty in mastering academic standards?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Every student receives core instruction through their classroom teacher. Intensive and accelerated instruction is taught in small groups at the student's academic level in Reading, Language Arts, and Mathematics according to pre-assessments.■ Weekly evaluations are tracked and monitored by teachers, instructors, and directors to ensure mastery. Students who are falling behind are identified in weekly team meeting discussions. An action plan is developed to address the student's needs.■ During follow-up team meetings, action plans are evaluated for effectiveness. Group level testing and change may be recommended if an action plan is not successful.■ Academic group levels are fluid. Teachers, instructors, directors, or parents may request a level test be administered at any time if they suspect that a different placement may be more appropriate for a child.■ Afterschool classes are offered for students who need extra academic support.

How will the school evaluate the effectiveness of the chosen interventions and adjust as needed?	Students are given assessments in reading and math every 5 to 14 days. The teacher records the data, and any student who does not pass one of these frequent assessments is recorded on a lesson progress chart (LPC). The LPC records which students are not at mastery in the current week. If the student is on this chart for 3 weeks in a row, then a group change is strongly considered. The teacher can also make recommendations that a student be reassessed at any time for a higher group change. Administration would look at the previous tests scores, homework scores and reassess if necessary. If a student passes an end-of-level assessment, then the student is moved out of the group immediately into the next higher group.
